Thirsty Mourn Liquor Spilled in Senate Cafe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A full quart of whisky was dropped n the floor of the Senate restaurant to-day by a waiter. A sadserved the pungent liquid being mopped up. It was impossible to earn to-night whether that waiter was still working at the Senate restaurant.

About the time the spirits were spilled in the restaurant Senator Curtis, of Kansas, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, was camping on the trail of bootleggers in the Senate Office Building, and around the rooms of the Senate Chamber. Reports were that a bootlegger had approached some of the Senators, offering holiday wet goods. Senator Calder, of New York, was one of those approached, although unsuccessfully. Senator Curtis was not going to have anything of that sort. He gave orders to the sergeant at arms to arrest any bootlegger that appeared.

The only casualty reported from the liquor front, however, was that bulletined from the Senate restaurant.
